

CONFERENCE TOPIC

Fallacious Philosophy

Most Christians would agree that we are living in interesting, and sometimes confusing times. What is going on in the world around us, and how should Christians respond? With seemingly new discussions about institutions, intersectional identity, cultural transformation, racism, cancel-culture, and social justice, how can Christians sort through the new vocabulary of old philosophy to make sense of it all? Nick Kennicott will discuss the histories of critical theory and postmodernism, their influence in modern Western Civilization, and provide a biblical response for the way forward in the Church.
